Hi, Im new here. I want to set up full page monitoring in Distill web monitor but I do not know how. If it may help, I want to receive alerts when a news/press release is published in this page. I would use some help here, I really need to be notified ASAP when this website posts an news or press release thanks for reaching out @solomon997 and asking the question. the steps to add a full page monitor for specific platforms are:using the browser extension-install the browser extension if you havent already. this is the preferred choice for most of our users.open the page in your browsers tabclick distills tear drop icon in the browser toolbar to open extensions popupopen the dropdown menu next to monitor parts of page and select monitor full pagesusing the web appgo to monitor distill.click the green add button and enter the url input and click go a visual selector using remote browser browser is displayed.click the save icon (floppy) in the browser toolbar without making any selection.or, open the dropdown menu and choose select full page optionsave:note: if it is a simple static page then monitoring full page can work well too. usually monitoring a more specific part of the page works better when the page has different parts that can change and we are interested only in a specific section. that is the reason the default option is set to be more specific.hope this helps. let me know if you have any questions or feedback. cheers! Thanks. I now know how to set full page monitoring all thanks to your guidance And how do I set up a full-page monitoring on the desktop app, please? good point. the current way to do that is to use the following css selector:htmlhis will monitor all changes in the page. 1 Like As stated in the topic title, I used to receive notifications on both my iPad and iPhone when changes were detected on my local monitor on my laptop however its been a week and it is no longer functioning.I have reinstalled Distill on my laptop, reinstalled on my iPhone, and removed it from my iPad, but nothing seems to have changed.It isnt a problem with the changes detected either, nor conditions. I have tested changing a few option, and can see that the monitor is detecting changes, but no notifications are sent.Can I get some assistance regarding this? Thank you. @loradream the push notifications are working fine. there are three common reasons for not getting push notifications:checking not working.conditions preventing alerts.running out of monthly allowance for push notifications.from what i understand, checks and conditions are working fine. can you look into your monthly usage to see push notification usage is over the monthly limit? Monthly UsageThis Month (Mar, 2025)0 checks, 0 emails, 132 pushesNo data for April, currently my Distill app on my phone still thinks its Marchedit: Adding additional data, unsure if relevantFebruary: 0 checks, 2176 pushesJanuary: 0 checks, 2966 pushesDecember: 52 checks, 409 pushes loradream:No data for April, currently my Distill app on my phone still thinks its Marchthis looks like a bug where the months offset is calculated incorrectly in certain timezone (est or pst). loradream:This Month (Mar, 2025)this should be aprils usage. i checked and saw that you were recently subscribed to the starter plan and downgraded to the free plan a week ago. free accounts get 100 push notifications in a month, since the monthly allowance has been reached, push notifications arent being sent anymore.let me know if it makes sense or if you have any questions. Im seeing that now, yea. Apologies, I mixed the expiration with another subscription and thought my service were ending later this month. This makes complete sense now, thank you. no worries and thanks for the update! Hi,Trying to access a url on Kohls.com. constantly getting ACCESS DENIED using any of the provided proxies distill offer. This previously worked for a couple days without issue.I have since purchased some ISP residential proxies hoping theyd fix my problem. I can access the url perfectly fine using the proxy i purchased. However when i try and access the same url via distill + my private proxy i am getting the ACCESS DENIED message again.I have tried creating a new profile within distill and clearing the cookies. Still no luckAm i missing something really obvious? I can access the kohls.com home page perfectly fine via distill its just when i navigate to a product url. When i try and access the same product url via google chrome or any other browser using my private proxy it will load fine lol everybody,i plan to use Distill to check the earliest availability for the US visa appointment, but when I choose to track the date of appointment. The checklog said NA and selection empty. Please help me @surya Any insights into how to track availability of US visa appointments? @hai0210 - Thank you for reaching out to us regarding tracking of US visa appointments.For you to be able to check US visa appointments, youll need to login to the website and subsequently track the available dates.To perform multi-step actions & subsequently track elements on a page, youll need to use Macros in Distill.Please find hereby attached a sample macro which can help track US Visa appointments.i request you to follow the below steps:Import the macro into your Distill account.Once the macro is imported, click on Open Recorder>Edit the steps shown in the below screenshot to save your credentials (corresponding to the US Visa website).Save the Macro & try running it.Once the macro is set, setup a Distill monitor starting from the sign-in page, to run the macro & subsequently select the dates you want to monitor. For the Distill monitor, Id recommend a frequency of ~3hrs.Hope this helps. Please let us know, if you face any challenges.Best,Surya:us visa template.json (6.4 KB) dear all! need your help, i need to get USA appointment in Bagdad, but I cant get it. please any one can help to get a method the notified me when the appointment was opened.best regards Hi @gallaly!May I kindly request you to visit our blog on Monitoring US visa appointmentsThis should help you with the required steps to help setup the monitor to find visa appointments.Please let us know, if you face any issues.Best Regards.Surya thanks surya for your replay, but it not help. Regards,Surya Hello, I tried using id-datepicker-unselectable to get an available slot on a website. I realized that this selector is only for UK visas, and the video says to click left and inspect website, but Im not sure how to detect the selector dates I need. Hi @vanessadiiazFirstly, welcome to Distills forums.As you correctly pointed out, the sample selectors in the video/blog are highlighted for the US Visa appointments to be setup from UK.Ill send you a DM to understand the specific challenges you are facing & hopefully we can find a solution together.Best,Surya @giorgio Macro is available in the Starter plan and above. Can you share a screenshot? giorgio! i followed steps above and when importing json file into app it gives me following error: Import failed: Cannot read properties of undefined (reading length)@giorgio! there are different kinds of JSON files. One is for the macro. Other could be for the monitor or config.Did you get the error when importing the macros JSON file? I need to submission visa file at VFS global but there are not available slot. So How to monitor slots is available. @jhakn we have a guide written for monitoring visa appointments. Check the following article out: distill.io 15 Mar 24 Track the official sites for booking slots for US Visa appointment dates. Get instant alerts once dates are available for slot booking. Can you check it out and see if it helps? HiCould you please help me a bit as my macro stops at this step, it doesnt click on schedule appointment I have the macros from you page and not sure if its made for the ones that already have an appointment and want to reschedule for an earlier date or for the ones that want to make a new appointment like me. I setup macro its been 4 days, smoothly working but havent yet any notification regarding slots yet.has anyone recently booked using notification, as Im waiting for notification in my email. Does distill work for Manila embassy, Philippines? The site is protected by Cloudflare. Philippines Embassy not listed on the website that your blog refers to. Thanks. I did setup for everything to get update on date in next 4 months but its giving me following errors. @lssinghq Can you check Monitoring availability of US visa appointment dates using Distill Distill? Let me know what you observe for the 1st and the 2nd points mentioned in the article. Page 2 @kenatdistill Check if the page displays a Captcha. If it does, monitoring the page is not possible.If there is no Captcha, you can proceed by importing the Macro and the monitor for any of the countries. After importing, make the following adjustments:URL, Email, Password, and consulate region for the MacroURL for the MonitorFor more details, please check Monitoring availability of US visa appointment dates using Distill Distill. Thanks. It displays a captcha, so I guess it will not work. Hello again. Let me correct what I wrote earlier about captcha. The site does not use captcha, but checks to see if your connection is secure using Cloudflare. Sometimes, Cloudflare asks you to click on a box to prove that you are a human, but this does not occur every time you sign in. So back to original question,will the Distill work with Cloudflare guarding the site. Thank you! If a captcha page does appear during a check, that check will fail. Is Cloudfare same as captcha? Sorry I dont know the details of what a captcha is. This happens to me also, please let me know if you could resolve it. Hello Raksha,When I tried to follow the above step (importing the table in the steps in my case macros for canada), I am getting an error mentioning "H is undefined" when I am trying to import the file.Can you pls look into it Can you try downloading the file again download Monitor JSON file for Canada and importing it? It worked fine in my tests. Idr-select specific parts of the page to get accurate results.use the desktop app for fast checks and monitoring search result pages.use condition to prevent alerts due to reordering in search pages.import the monitors json files (shared below) to add the monitor easily into your watchlist.i am going to share two common strategies for bby, if you or others need help with a different site, feel free to ask.1. monitoring a products detail pageif you are looking for a specific model, monitoring a specific page is the fastest and most accurate method.here is a rx 5090 product page: NVIDIA - GeForce RTX 5090 32GB GDDR7 Graphics Cardthe best strategy for the detail page is to monitor the products button displaying out of stock message and the price as shown in the following screenshots: recommend including price to make sure that when the stock status goes away, there will still be a content in the page that distill will capture.the css selectors are: .pl-one .fulfillment-add-to-cart-button .add-to-cart-button[data-testid=large-price-view] [data-testid=customer-price] [aria-hidden] you will see something like this in the watchlist: i am sharing the following json that you can import directly into your watchlist too.bby-product-detail-monitor- 10-12. 2025-02-01.json (963 Bytes)2. monitoring a product list pagewhen the stocks are hard to find, a better option is to monitor a slightly bigger product iso (not too big) of products so that you can get alerted is any one of them is in stock.here is a search rx 5090 search result page: Nvidia GeForce RTX 5090 Search Resultfollowing screenshot shows how i have selected title, price and the add to cart button that should be monitored.i have included the product title so that notifications show which product is in stock.the css selectors are:li h4 [aria-labelledby=main-results-heading] li [data-testid=customer-price] [aria-hidden] [aria-labelledby=main-results-heading] li .add-to-cart-buttonimportant note:the page loads the stock status after a certain delay and only when the page is visible. that means that the when extension loads the page in a background tab, the status wont load, so make sure to do the following-use the desktop app to run this monitor. download it from Web Monitoring Apps | Distillset the delay to give the page some time to load the pages content. increase "wait for duration" in page options to 5-10s depending on how fast it loads in your case.monitoring a list can trigger alerts when items in the list are reordered, add a condition net added text is not empty to get an alert only when there a change and ignore reordering.following json can be imported directly into your watchlist to monitor the search results:bby-product-list-monitor- 10-33. 2025-02-01.json (1.3 KB)hope this helps! let me know if you have any questions or need any help. cheers!
